PREW & CAMPBELL

MONDAY, APRIL 29, 1878.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Weston Den ocrat brings forward Col. Jake Jackson, o Parkersburg, as a candidate for Congress in lieu of Col. Ben. Wilson. One point urged in his favor, or rather one point urged against Col, Ben's re-nomination is that the latter has already been elected twice to Congress, which, under the old Democratic rule, should suffice for one man. He should now step aside and give some one of his numerous competitors a Two terms, under the rule, should be the measure of public service in the lower house of Congress. After that much of a career the next most meritorious competitor should be taken up and rewarded. This is the argument although not the language, of the Democrat's correspondent. It is a very poor argument, but it is one that Colonel Ben has no doubt always recognized here-tofore, when he was one of the "outs." Being now one of the happy family of "ins," he is no doubt ready to concur in our opinion that the rule is a very absurd

Colonel Ben is pretty secure for a r nomination, and we have no doubt will make a successful struggle for the hono of a fresh candidacy. He has tasted the sweets of Washington life, and he likes it better than the solitude of Wilsonburg

"Oh, solitade! Where are the charms That sages have seen in thy face; Better to dwell in the midst of alarms Thus reign in that lonely ploa."

of the 386 memb composing the two houses of Congress 239 are lawyers, 20 physicians, 19 bankers, 17 merchants, 15 editors, 3 manufactures, 5 zailroad officers, and 5 sohool teachers, while there are only 16 farmers and planters to represent 4,000,000 agricultural voiers.

I do not believe that there is any other party in the country, or that there ever has been any party more friendly to the laboring classes than the Republican party is or has been, but in view of the disorganized condition of labor, and the distress and suffering among the poorthe distress and suffering among the po er classes, it seems necessary for the pa to take special pains to allay the pre dices of these classes and satisfy them it dices of these classes and satisfy them that their best hopes are more likely to be realized through Republican success than through Republican defeat. How can this be done more effectually than by giving to these classes a fair representation among the Coogressional candidates selected for the coming election? No present the coordinate of the coordinate of the coordinate resources of the defeat of the coordinate resources of the coordinate resources. tensions of friendship, no eulogistic reso-lutions, no promises of sympathy and aid, would be half so effective to hold aid, would be half so effective to hold the these classes in the Republican party in the XVIth district, as would be the selection of a candidate for Representative in Congress from the farming, manufacturing or mechanical class. There are plenty of good, strong, able men connected with these classes and though not so persistent in pressing themselves forward as some of the representatives of the other classes, they are quite as well qualified in every sense to creditably represent the district. It is not desirable that class distinctions shall be made in selecting candidates for office, neither is it desirable that any class shall be entirely ignored, but as complaint of unfairness is made, it becomes a matter of importance that the claims of all classes shall be fairly considered.

that the claims of all classes shall be fairly considered.

In view of the growing discontent among the laboring classes, and especially in view of the oft repeated declarations that the Republican party is the party of the rich and not of the poor; the party of the capitalist and not of the laborer; the party of the capitalist and not of the laborer; the party of the banker and bondholder and not of the people, would it not be prudent in the election of a candidate for Congress in this district—a strong manufacturing district—to avoid "giving color to the idea that there is any truth in the declaration? It is the impression of many good men that the party pression of many good men that the party would be much stronger with the masses in the coming contest, if it selected as candidates thus fall fewer bondholders bankers and lawyers, and this is the im-pression of a XVIth district Workingman. What a Tottering Fabric

What a Tottering Fabric is a system depleted of vitality and irregular in its functions. It is only judicious and prompt medication which can save it from a speedy and total collapse. The tonic and regulating properties of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters particularly adapt that benign medicine to revive physical vigor and reform those bodily irregularities which are a barrier to its permanent restoration. Bihousness and constipation are totally overcome by it, and the digestive activity and thorough assimilation which it promotes have the effect of increasing the vivilying and nourishing qualities of the blood. The Bitters are also an excellent detergent of the vital current, since they communicate a healthy stimulus to the bladder and kidneys, which are the most important channels for the escape of its impurities. Pure, sgreeable, and of botanic origin, thorough and prompt, but never violent in its action the reasons for the transcendent popularity of this medicine are both cogent and appreciable.
